Writing and Editing

Writing content for newsletters, websites, blogs, etc. and ensuring it's ready to be presented to the world can be a daunting task – especially when you have so many other important things to do. Let me take care of it for you! Have a look at the solutions below. If you need a custom package, feel free to ask me for a consultation.

Content Creation

If you're not a writer, creating written content can take a lot of time and energy! But finding the right words for your business documents, website, and marketing materials is crucial to getting your message out there and engaging potential and current customers.

Through a 30-minute planning session, we can determine your target audience as well as the use of the content you want written (website, blog, newsletter, marketing materials, etc..)

Cost per word (1000 word minimum/layout extra):

$0.30

Copywriting

You've written the content but you're not confident in syntax, grammar, spelling, or voice and would like someone to go through it with a fine-toothed comb to bring it to life – with your voice and an effective message. Perhaps you'd like your piece edited with a focus on your brand.

Whatever your concerns, we can establish your goals for the content in a 30-minute planning session.

Cost per word (1000 word minimum):

$0.05

Proofreading

Copywriting is done and you feel confident that your content is well-written and effective. Just to be sure, a final once-over before publishing is a good idea – especially for large or complex documents. Two sets of eyes are better than one.

Cost per word (1000 word minimum):

$0.025
